Super School

Norfolk Academy, one of more than 50 private schools in Tidewater, is considered the best of its kind in the area, and probably in the state. Its reputation extends nationally, catching the discriminating eye of college admissions officers at such prestigious institutions as Princeton and Yale. A diploma from the Academy is almost a letter of acceptance to the University of Virginia.

"This is not a school for the unmotivated," said John H. Tucker Jr., school headmaster.

Bulldog Power

OUTLOOK: Norfolk Academy also is a member of the Virginia Prep League, and the Bulldogs should be legitimate contenders in that league as well as the Tidewater Conference ... The Bulldogs were young last year, with five sophomores on the starting offensive line, and suffered through a 3-7 season ... There is experience at every position this year, and the record should improve ... "Nansemond-Suffolk is the team to beat, but I'd like to think we can compete with them," said coach Dave Trickler ... If the Bulldogs have a weakness, it is a lack of experience in the backfield ... Tom Raynes and David Costenbader are battling for the quarterback job, "and no matter who gets the starting position, we'll have good depth for once at that position." ... Brad Schaubach, who started at tailback as a sophomore last year, is back and will carry the brunt of the offensive load for the Bulldogs ... Chris Hope

Pursuing Knowledge

There are few frail bodies and no feeble minds at Norfolk Academy. They are weeded out systematically, first by a battery of admissions tests, then by a high-powered curriculum. Those who survive are among the brightest and best-educated students in Tidewater. They will be the powerful and rich of the next generation — the doctors, lawyers, bankers, businessmen, politicians, scientists and teachers.

Many are following in their parents' footsteps, the children of wealth confronting a legacy they can't avoid. Others aspire to grow beyond their roots. Together, they chase knowledge in an atmosphere of conservatism that, like the message printed above, is dogmatic and admonishing. But it is time-tested atmosphere and one proven beyond serious reproach. The mission of the school is to prepare young men and women for college, a narrow charge pursued doggedly from the first grade on. Though administrators eschew terms like "conservative," "private" and "elitist," they admit that Norfolk Academy is not for everyone and readily acknowledge their attempt to produce a kind of creme de la creme that goes beyond accidents of birth.

As one educator put it: "If you look at the graduates and don't know who their parents are, you can still see they won't take a back seat to anybody."

Norfolk Academy is 252 years old, dating from 1728 when a half-acre was deeded by Samuel Boush and George Newton to Samuel Smith, Samuel Boush Jr. and Nathaniel Newton "for the erecting of a schoolhouse." Ironically, the site now houses Norfolk's high-rise public school administration building, and the private school, after moving through four other buildings on three locations, has settled on a sprawling 56-acre suburban site near the intersection of Northampton Boulevard and Interstate 64. The essence of the school has not changed as long as I've been associated with it," Tucker said.

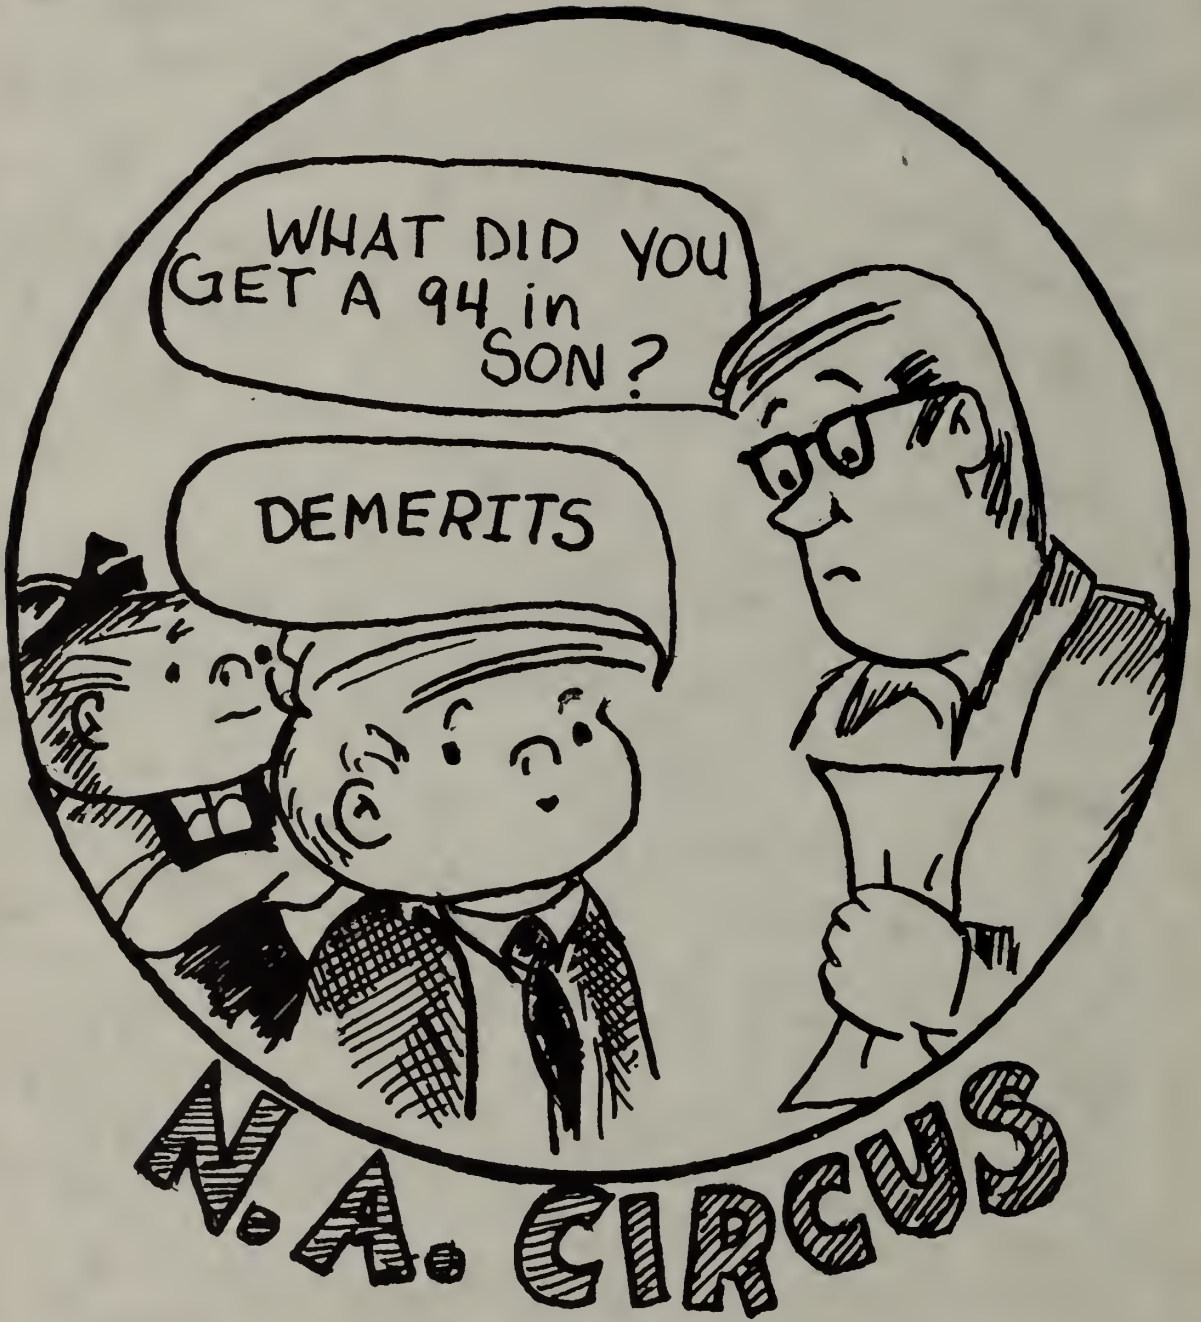

will start both ways, and will run back kick-offs and punts ... Larry Bernert anchors an experienced offensive line, while Palmer Hamilton and Lawren Herring are defensive standouts ... Sophomore Paul Zoby (5-8, 150) has been a surprise find at monster back.

If there is a bond which cements the 25-member board together, it is shared experience-in business, community endeavors, even college memories. Of the 25, ten are alumni and twelve have children attending the Academy. "The board is a very prestigious group," Welton said. "There's no getting around it. But we make it very clear that if you're on the board, you're going to work hard." But the board is not all work and no fun, for humorous stories abound. Take for example, the story of how girls first came to the school. It fell to Welton and two other trustees to convince C.F. Burroughs that coeducation was for the future. "Frank Batten, Harry Price, and I went to him and told him about the girls," Welton recalled. "He said, 'Don't want no girls.' We said, 'Mr. Burroughs, what if we put girls in one building and boys in another?' He said, 'Well, maybe, if you put a fence down the middle.'"

WORLD AND LOCAL LEADERS

The faculty is as loyal as the students. Of the school's 72 staff members, 27 have more than a decade of tenure. They have remained despite a salary lower than public schools and double-digit inflation. "I don't know if pay is really a factor," Arthur MacConochie said. "It's a very satisfying job. You see people go through college and come back and make their mark in the community." "It is the caliber and fidelity of the faculty that has made the school what it is," Tucker said.

"It's just plain fun," said Arthur MacConochie, an English teacher and UVA graduate. "One of the happy things is to teach a man and then to teach his son. Teaching at the Academy is a labor of love."

Teaching in the fine arts — music, painting, pottery — has increased markedly under Tucker in hopes of promoting greater creativity among the students. Students will also learn computer science for the first time this year, for school officials have finally surrendered to the reality of technology.

SKILL WITH THE BLADE

John Gill's bright blue eyes narrow in concentration as he scrapes away at a piece of wood with his knife. Splinters of juniper fall to the floor as he holds the object up for scrutiny.

It is, or rather will be, a pintail duck, a lifelike miniature carved completely from wood by the 19-year-old Norfolk Academy senior.

John is perfecting his techniques, picking up tips here and there that make the wings just a little more realistic or give the heads just the right contours.

Already, he's been recognized locally as an up-and-coming wildfowl carver with several noteworthy credits.

He won third place and $400 last year in the annual Student Gallery '80 art contest sponsored by the Ledger-Star and United Virginia Bank.

When he was 14, his mother had a class schedule from the Virginia Beach Arts Center lying around the house and John picked it up and glanced through it out of curiosity.

"When I saw it had a class in bird carving, I decided to take it. It was kind of tough." There were all of these old men in there carving. I was the only kid."

Since then, he's worked mostly on his own. "I never got a chance to take another class." For a while he worked with carver James Bell of Bay Colony. But Bell passed away before spending much time with John.

Bell's wife, Virginia, is John's art teacher at school, and she allows him to use her husband's workshop. She also lets him work on his birds during class.

"I really don't think I'm good enough to make a career out of this," he said modestly. "But I will always do it as a hobby on the side, enter shows and things like that."

"When people say they look life-like, that's the best compliment they can give me."

some sanity to Boo; my Hendrix albums, study skills, and the mobile to Bull; and my college applications to Chris A.

I, STEVE WEISBERG, do hereby bequeath my Patti Smith albums and unused brownie mix to Ginger; my Taj Mahal pass to Bruce and Bones; my New Wave tapes to Brooke; copyrights to the Algebra II Joke Book to Blanchard; a new name, a new car, and hence a new world to Boo; a date with Celia-Renee to Lance; a flashlight to Hecht; green hair spray to Hazel; a clean deck of cards to Burt and Huhn; the score for "The Troll" to Mark; Dead End tapes to Craig; Sybil's number and getting mugged to Alan May; a year's pass to the Butties to Mark and Craig; Wards Corner and pinball to Walker; a year's rent for the use of his books to Young; my Pat Benatar poster to Pete; my draft registration number of Cooper; my Debussey and Monty Python albums and a lifetime subscription to National Lampoon to Mr. Babcock; my Government notebook with all its blank pages to Mr. Stacey; and my resignation from the Apathy Club, slackness, common sense, and maturity to Norfolk Academy.

I, CRAIGE WILLIAMSON, do hereby bequeath a troll bridge, his beard, and some roller skates to Mark Komer; a bazooka, hand grenade, E.M. RAW, and a $1.57 gift certificate to J and J's to Phil; cheesecakes, a map to Portsmouth, 100 shares of Parlor Club stock, and a YAK to Mike Monroe; a scratched LP, and "Oh yea," the book How To Avoid College, and some moonlight to Katie Gibson; a Portsmouth alarm clock to Greg Mahan; a ponk GTO with a lift kit and yellow pinstripes, A YAHOO, and a JEBB to John Hollowell.

I, DAVID WILKS, do hereby bequeath a Get Out of Jail Free card to Lawren; a car door to Paul Peck; a trip to Wintergreen with Mr. A. Poguee to my buddy Bruce; a modesty handbook to Jeff Greenspan; a ski trip complete with an arm sling, a Holly Farms chicken, Jeff Brooke, and an Exxon credit card to David Young; a blender and an oxygen mask to Larry Hecht; a Baja and a pair of skis to Mark Komer; some worry beads to Robin Doumar; her own powder room to Mrs. Rhodes; and a Jewish conversion service to Greg Mahan.

I, DAVID YOUNG, do hereby bequeath my brother James to Norfolk Academy; a heavy-duty blender with an extra large capacity to David Wilks; a one-against-all rumble with the Pittsburgh Steelers to Neil Cooper; a skier's sightseeing manual and a higher gear to Bruce Berman; a trip to Birdland to Steve Weisberg; a gift certificate to Tobak's to the Apathy Club; a peaceful vacation on the dark side of the moon and a nose clip to Larry Hecht.

TWELVE YEAR SURVIVORS

HALLOWEEN '80

One of the highlights of the senior year is the privilege to dress up on Halloween. Although there were no Playboy bunnies this year, Mark Komer came as a Portsmouth garbage dump and Hazel Hudgins beamed down from outer space.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

MOST SCHOOL SPIRITED

Kim Eckert and Brian Sturm

MOST INTELLECTUAL

YOUNG CHOPINS

It's bad enough having to play these three tricky Gershwin preludes in front of the packed school auditorium and feeling the dry mouth and the stomach throb of stage fright.

But here in the backstage practice room at Norfolk Academy, Steven Weisberg, who is actually a jazz pianist at heart, also has to contend with half a dozen boys from the orchestra who are firing a little blue beanbag around the room.

The orchestra, composed of students, teachers, and "friends of the academy," files on to the stage, followed by the conductor, Merle Becker, and the soloist — 9-year-old Matthew Van Hoose, who is almost precisely half as tall as the Steinway is long.

When Van Hoose sits on the bench, his feet barely reach the pedals. But as soon as the orchestra launches into Haydn's Concerto in D Major, the young soloist establishes his true stature. His fingers dance across the keys. He is in his element. And for a fourth-grader, he is remarkably good.

INTIMATIONS OF IMMORTALITY

Dressing up in their finest, many students attended a rare occasion this fall — a funeral where no tears were shed. Upon arrival, each mourner received a white or pink carnation, signed his name on the body, and had the opportunity to pray for the deceased. The invocation delivered, the hungry hordes began to scream for food. They were soon satiated by gorging on 90 pounds of roast, plus fruit salad and who knows how many meatballs and crab legs. Meanwhile, white doves circled in sevens and threes; the trees shimmered and seemed to bow their heads in prayer. However, the death of "Swan Lodge" was soon forgotten as the revelry continued. Now, almost out of defiance, "Swan Lodge" is back on the road again. At any rate, it was a good excuse to have a party!

LITTLE PEOPLE OF POLITICS

They march dutifully along the black and white marble tiles linking the chambers of the Senate and House of Delegates in the Capitol.

Like pawns on the chessboard of the Virginia General Assembly, they carry messages from chamber to chamber, heavy bill books from committee to committee and strategy notes from partisan to partisan.

The lieutenant governor, clerks and legislators — the very kings and queens of government — depend on them, especially now in the final days of the Assembly's session. But at the snap of a finger, the romantic notion of being a House or Senate page can be numbered by the yoke of service.

For some 64 Virginians aged 13 to 15, the past five weeks have been a paid holiday from school, but certainly no vacation. They've earned their money running errands, collating bills and opening doors.

They're on call from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week during the session, but most are able to go home on weekends. It's the first paid job for many.

They're selected to serve for one session only, theoretically because they were interested and could cope with both the work at the assembly and back at school. After sponsorship and acceptance by one of the two chambers, they make the trip to Richmond.

"Let's face it, you need good grades and good connections," said one page, slicing through the prerequisites. Taylor said the pages always have what it takes — and more.

Paige Levy of Portsmouth and Amy Shook of Virginia Beach came well prepared to keep up with their studies and also have a good time.

EDITORIAL

Recall Robert Frost's poem, "The Road Not Taken." The narrator relates his problem in deciding which path to take at a fork in the road. One path is well travelled, the other is rarely taken. After a moment of pondering, he chooses the less-travelled one, and "that has made all the difference."

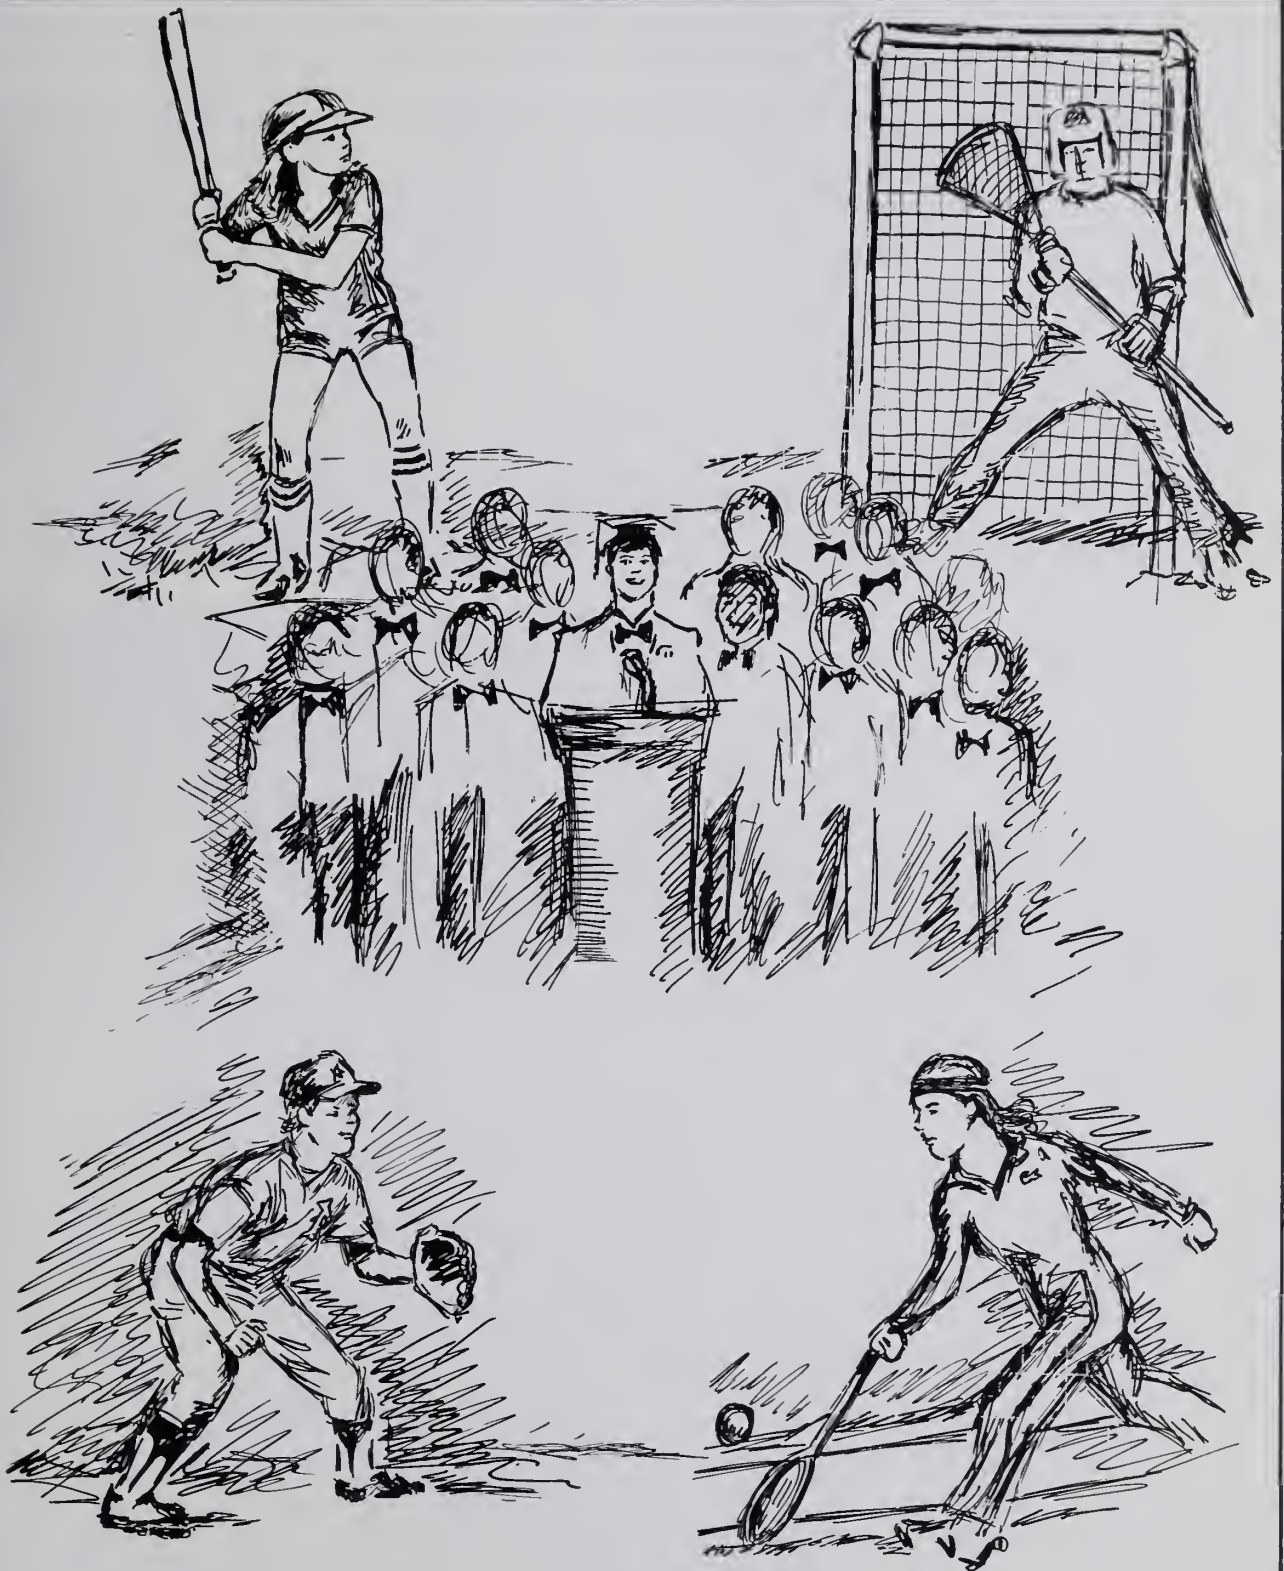

Our lives are filled with such decisions, choices, and opportunities. Since our decisions, are, for the most part, irrevocable, we must consider carefully our options. Even though the traveller might not have understood everything about each path, at least he knew what his options were. Our choices, in contrast, are usually not as clearly defined as those presented to the traveller.

A tragic element that unfortunately limits many of us is the assumption that there are limits to acceptable decisions. Why be limited by what others have done? Who says there are only two paths, or even three? When you face a decision, review those options not usually considered. An original solution may be hiding just beyond our self-imposed limits.

Sometimes it will be right to travel the common path. Sometimes it will be better to travel a new path. But in any case, have the courage to make an original decision, and once you have made it, the perseverance to follow it through.

FIELD DAY '80

On May 3rd, Norfolk Academy enjoyed its annual Field Day, a day when the efforts shown all year by parents, teachers, and students come to a profitable and fun result. For months, Lower, Middle, and Upper schoolers work at a feverish pitch to build booths, collect stamps, and sell tickets. This year the Country store, Midway, and ticket drawing were particular successes. The 1980 profit of approximately fifty thousand dollars, about equal to last year's total, will help finance purchases to improve student life.

Prom '80, held outside under the diamond-studded sapphire sky, was very successful. As the yellow brick road led the dancers under the rainbow and out to the dance floor, a cool breeze caressed both teachers and students bopping to the beat of Hot Cakes. A special thanks goes to Jamie DeMaio, whose phenomenal artistic talents contributed greatly to the ambiance. Thanks to Mr. Hudgins and his supreme supervision, Prom 1980 was great.

CLASS OF 1980

The night of June 10, 1980, was both a sad and a joyous affair as the senior class departed, leaving everyone with a feeling of emptiness. A major part of Norfolk Academy was moving on. Linda Peck received the Thomas McEntee Martin Award as the senior demonstrating initiative, originality, and creativity. Ran Randolph received the S. Barron Segar Award for rendering the highest service through leadership based upon the influence of character. Debbie Hayes and Ben Payne delivered the valedictory addresses and received the Bible Award in honor of the spiritual principles inculcated by James B. Massey.

GRADUATION

The students, faculty and parents attending the Lower School graduation said goodbye to the seventh grade class of 1980. This class had many outstanding students. Courtney Scott won the Best Moore Citizenship Award given on the basis of character, leadership, and citizenship. The Lower School Speaking Awards were given to William McDowell and Katherine Cooper. This class will be missed by the Lower School but will be welcomed by the Middle School.

SOFTBALL

The softball team's season was a letdown, but the girls nonetheless put forth a monumental effort during each game. Finishing with a 3-13 record, the team captured fifth in the TCIS Tournament and saw teammate Paige Moody named to the All Tournament team. Led by five-year veterans Lauren Slepín and Moody, the girls look to 1981 for another shot at the top.

LACROSSE

The girls' Varsity lacrosse team, led by captain Donna Dale, enjoyed a successful 1980 season with an 8-6 record. Anne Diamonstein, All-Tournament team member, and Anne Richardson, named MVP, contributed to the team's winning efforts. Highlights of the season included the first annual Norfolk Academy Invitational Tournament, in which our girls captured third place.

LACROSSE

After a fast-paced season of highs and lows, the Bulldog lacrosse team once again earned a respectable 8-2 record. Paced by the scoring of Chris Hope and Fitz McPhaul, the team produced a high-powered offense. Strong defensive play by Doumar, Raynes, Kollmansperger, Bernert and Company held opponents to a minimum of goals as MVP Tom Rixey continued to "lock the door" of the goal.

Seniors: J. Fiveash, F. Kollmansperger, F. McPhaul, E. Morgan, T. Rixey, R. Randolph, P. Prillaman, J. Glover. Row 1: T. Raynes, C. Hope, S. Casper, L. Bernert, B. Hess. Row 2: J. Ruffin, P. Zoby, J. Willis, B. Schaubach. Row 3: J. Brown, C. Shearin, W. Stone, S. Waitzer.

Dear Doctor Jock,
Please help me understand the history of lacrosse and why it is so popular at Norfolk Academy.

Sincerely,
Leef Feelder

Dear Leef,
You may have noticed that the demise of ice hockey at NA coincided with the rise of lacrosse.
Because of the water shortage in Tidewater,
Bulldog Athletic Director Dave Trickler decreed that there would be no more ice for home games.
Unfortunately, yet characteristically, he forgot to cancel the games already on the schedule. Team after team rolled onto the campus to skate against the 'Dogs, only to find the goals set up at either end of the hall outside the Senior Room. The resultant hoopla ended only when Coach Trickler, in his infinite wisdom and despair, defined lacrosse, and it was.

Yours,
The Doctor

GOLF

In its first season, the Golf team compiled a 9-2 record that was good enough to win the TCIS regular season.

The Track team again posted a winning season with a 6-2 record. Tournament competition saw a fifth place finish in the VPL and a second in the TCIS.

The boys' record of 8-6 showed a strong team effort. Even without seniors Berkley, Salzberg, and McCray, the "Iron Six" will lead the 1981 team to a stellar record. Pitted against stiff foes, the girls' team logged a successful 9-1 season. Losing only three seniors, Porter, Jacobson, and Baylor, the 1981 season looks promising.

In spite of their admirable determination, JV Softball could pull out only one game, but Mr. Oberdorfer insists "this record was not representative of the team's ability." Half their matches cancelled, JV Tennis still demonstrated their talent by finishing 3-1. The addition of Coach Rullman to NA Lacrosse will unquestionably improve future teams. JV Baseball also improved drastically and will provide next year a varsity with unprecedented strength. Of course, Ms. Shisler's unbeatable JV Lacrosse team deserves special praise for its stupendous season.

ACADEMY'S HOT HAND

NORFOLK — As the sixth man for Norfolk Academy's basketball team last season, Garth Forsyth gave no hint of what was to come.

A lanky, 6-1 ninth grader, Forsyth spent more time avoiding splinters on the bench than scoring points.

But a year later, Forsyth, a filled-out, 6-2 sophomore, has earned the reputation as one of the most potent offensive basketball players ever to step on a Tidewater high school basketball court.

What turned a seldom-used reserve into Tidewater's top offensive player? Old-fashioned hard work, say people in the Tidewater Conference circle.

Forsyth put aside going to the beach and movies and taking vacations last summer to play basketball as many hours of the day and night that he could.

"There are kids who talk about playing basketball 12 hours a day, and then there are kids like Garth Forsyth who actually do it," said Norfolk Christian coach Ed Willis. "Our players saw him everywhere. And always with a basketball in his hand."

Forsyth arose each weekday morning at 7 AM and rode with his father to the Wesleyan gym. There the younger Forsyth would pick up a basketball and from 8 AM until 5 PM, he would take on all comers.

Following dinner, on most occasions, the elder Forsyth would drive his son to a recreation center in their Virginia Beach neighborhood, or to a gym in nearby Norfolk, and watch as his son played still more basketball.

"I played in the Norfolk High School Summer League two years ago, and didn't get that much out of it," said Garth. "Playing at Wesleyan and in the recreation centers, I was going against college players. It was a lot tougher. I took some lumps. But I learned a lot more."

He also went to basketball camps, five in all, and served as a counselor at ODU coach Paul Webb's camp.

"He worked very hard," said his father. "And it paid off. He surprised everyone, including me."

"As a father, I've tried to impress upon him that there's going to be a time when he will score 15 or 18 points. And he can't let that get him down."

"I can't deny that I'm very proud of him. He's worked hard to improve himself."

"Garth is just a sophomore, and a lot can happen in two years," said the elder Forsyth. "Garth is not a complete player yet. He knows he's got work to do on his ball-handling, and with the discipline he's shown, he will do it."

Devoid of any starters from last year's squad, Academy has ridden Forsyth's offensive talent to a surprising 10-4 Tidewater Conference record.

"I told my kids before the season that in order to win we'd have to get the ball to Garth and let him take most of the shots," said Norfolk Academy coach Dave Trickler.

"But I never had any idea that he would score like this. It's been a shock to me."

And a shock to Forsyth. "Heck, last year I was just happy to get in and contribute whenever they needed me!"

DOCTOR JOCK

Dear Doctor Jock,
Why are balls filled with air?

Honestly,
Dave Trickler

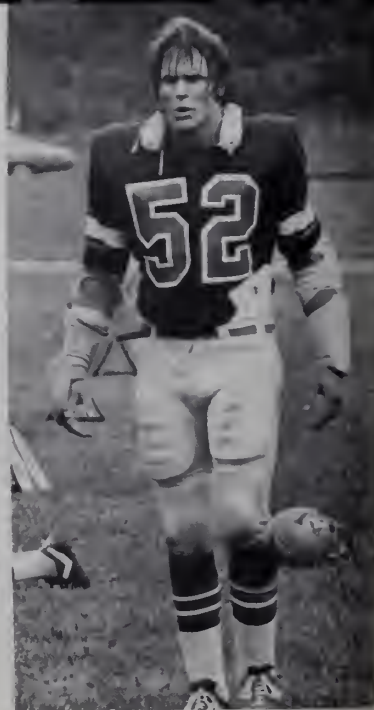

Dear Woody,

The history of athletic equipment is long and varied. In the fourth century B.C., two famous Greek philosopher-athletes, Hugosthenes Medicopolus and Herristotle, weighed the relative advantages of a myriad of ball-filling substances. They found water to be the most convenient compound, noting that the electric air pump was still 24 centuries from conception. Water gave way, after the drought of 367, to sand, as Abdul Kareem Achmed searched for a noisier substance. These granular innards filled the bill until King Henry VIII was burdened with an overabundance of women's hair, which he used to bind baseball cores. Only recently, Woody, was the use of women's hair in (athletic) competition prohibited. Sports enthusiasts searched high and low for an economical and plentiful substitute for the hair that had served them so well for so long. Finally, in 1975, the long-buried "Athens Scrolls" were unearthed in a small village on the outskirts of the Greek capital. Sports historians translated, for the first time, the now-famous "Air Treatise" of the aforementioned Hugosthenes and Herristotle, and almost overnight balls around the world were being inflated with air.

Yours,
The Doctor

Handing their coach, Mr. David "Woody" Trickler, his first winning season at 5-4, the Bulldogs had bittersweet memories of a fall season filled with ups and downs. However, no team the Bulldogs played could doubt the considerable talent and heart of this year's edition. Led by an experienced offensive line including tri-captain Larry Bernert, Charles "Self-proclaimed Franchise" Lustig, and quarterback David Costenbader, the Bulldogs rushing game was not matched by any. The formidable Bulldog defense, led by tri-captains Lauren Herring and Palmer Hamilton and Neil "The Assassin" Cooper, flexed its muscles to highlight this season by holding crosstown rival Norfolk Catholic to 6 points.

F O O T B A L L

Dear Doctor Jock,

A year ago, I wasn't even a running back; today I am a success. I worked out hard, just as you prescribed, and now am the most dominating force in the VPL and TCIS. Even though I am the franchise, I'm still not satisfied. What advice do you have for me this year?

Sincerely,
Charles Lustig

Dear Lumber,

The only thing that stands between you and stardom is your tarnished self-image. Come on — develop some self-confidence! I gave Ali the same advice — look where he is today!

Yours,
The Doctor

P.S. Don't try to play college ball. You'll get killed.

BASKETBALL

The varsity squad, with only four experienced players, compiled a respectable 9-11 record. The four veterans were greatly aided by former JV players, most notably Mary Flippen and Barbita Webster. With nine returning players, next year's squad looks forward to a promising season in the fall. However, the team will miss Mary Margaret Callahan and Catharine Hagan, who will graduate. Coach Stender has faith that Mary Martha Stewart, Pat Wallace, and the rest of the girls will carry on.

Captains M. Callahan, P. Wallace. Left to right: Coach Stender, C. Hagan, M. Via, S. Weinstein, M. Stewart, E. Bernert, E. Barr, A. Liles, B. Webster, M. Flippen.

Dear Doctor Jock,
Last fall, I watched Mary Flippen throw it in for the Bulldogettes. Wintertime brought yet another deadeye Garth Forsyth. Who's better?

Sincerely,
Bill Miller

Dear Boss,

It's obvious you've been grappling on the mats for far too long. I did feed your query into the new Apple II computers. Winesap I favored Flippen on the basis of her quicker hands and red hair. Golden Delicious II predicted a marginal win for G-man, largely due to his 12 inch height advantage and superior defensive strategies (the 51). MacIntosh III, however, prognosticated a scoreless tie, asserting that the only real determinant would be a single round on Missile Command at 6x, at which the champion would be David Costenbader.

Yours,
The Doctor

Row 1: D. Young, B. Bass. Row 2: S. Coyle, J. Young, L. Peck, T. Conklin, P. McDowell, E. Perry, R. Rosenblum. Row 3: S. Hellberg, G. Powell, B. Sams, J. Russ.

To insure adequate leadership, this year's Cross Country team had three captains: David Young, Barry Bass, and Greg Powell. The team got off to a good start by beating Walsingham, 26 to 31. However, the taste of victory was short lived as our runners were defeated by Richmond Collegiate the following week. The team came back to capture third place in the TCIS tourney at Mt. Trashmore. Barry Bass and Ed Perry placed on the All-TCIS team. Cross Country evened its record at 6-6 by beating Norfolk Christian.

CROSS COUNTRY and TRACK

Coached for the first time by Mr. Nelson, the Winter Track team had a very interesting season. A victory against Blue Ridge came very early in the season. With high scorers Walter Stone and MVP Barry Bass, the team battled against some very tough schools. Two new additions, the coach and the female team members, helped make the cold weather a little easier to bear.

Row 1: C. McCulloch, E. Perry, B. Bass, B. Carpenter, G. Draper. Row 2: M. Moore, J. Young, A. Gregory, E. Perry, T. Cooper, S. Gough, M. Babcock, S. Price. Row 3: D. Clark, J. Russ, L. Peck, T. Hollowell. Row 3: Coach Stacey, R. Sonenshine, C. Williamson, S. Levitin, D. Becker, T. Wild, W. Cooper, C. Addington, M. Lawson.

Led by the peerless coaching of Ace Stacey, the soccer team turned in an outstanding year by winning the Prep League for an unprecedented third year in a row and the TCIS title. In the process, the Bulldogs amassed a 14-4-1 record and perpetuated the dynasty begun several years ago. The team was blessed with several All-TCIS players: Glen Draper, Bobby Schwartz, Richard Yee, and Mike Monroe. Additional support throughout the season came from the strong bench.

FIELD HOCKEY

At the end of an unusually long season, the field hockey team posted a winning 7-4-4 record. Led by captains Katie Gibson and Sherri Jarrett, the squad played in three tournaments, one of which was highlighted by a flat tire on the trip back home. Although next year's team will lose seven players to graduation, the future looks bright with the return of Tolli Cooper, Denise Katsias, and a strong JV movement up the ranks. Perhaps the highlight of the season came in the annual classic clash between the girls and the soccer team. History was made when the females dominated the game for a 3-2 victory that was marked by numerous collisions on the field. Coach Shisler, an inspiration to the squad, certainly had reason to be proud of her 1980 team.

Dear Doctor Jock,

I attended the VAIS swim meet this past winter and was aghast at the sight of male athletes who had shaved all their body hair. What could be the purpose of such an act?

Sincerely,

Dear Joe,

I, too, was baffled by the shorn 'Dogs. So, I went straight to the source and asked Chris Hope ('81) what he and his natatorial colleagues hoped to accomplish by scraping the follicles from their arms, legs, and occasionally chests. "Drag," he said. At first I thought he had misunderstood the question, for that is exactly the word used in the girls' locker room to describe a date with Chris. But he persisted. "Drag. Hair drags a swimmer down," he related between chaws. "And besides, it doesn't look good through my panty hose." "Any drawbacks to body shaving, Chris?" "Just one," he drawled. "The Aqua Velva really stings."

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Basketball team completed the 1981 season in the top four of the Prep League and TCIS. Led by co-captains Brian Sturm and Charles Lustig, the Bulldogs ended the season with a 13-15 season. Although they were expected to have a losing season, Coach Trickler and Coach Hudgins pulled the young team together into a contender. The Academy's leading scorer, Garth Forsyth, scored his 1000th career point after only two Varsity seasons. The success of this year's team was due to determination and teamwork.

GYMNASTICS

The 1981 Gymnastic team got off to a fast and strong start. With almost all new team members, (most of whom had never competed before) and new facilities to practice in (the new Lower School gym) the team had a very rewarding season. Although the statistics read 2-3, each competitor put forth a great effort. With the help of Coach Wiggins, many girls captured top spots in each meet. This squad is the first step in NA's determined quest to produce a championship team.

WRESTLING

The varsity grapplers enjoyed a successful season, with a 6-4 record going into the 1981 tournaments. In both the TCIS and the Prep League tourneys, the team captured third place. At the State meet, Mike Monroe won his weight and several others placed in the top rankings. Thanks to the leadership of Coach Lindjhem and captains John Brown and Will Redfern, 1981 was one of the top years in Norfolk Academy wrestling history.

With afternoon practices for the first time in NA history, the Volleyball team had an excellent year, finishing the season with a 10-5 record. The relatively young team, consisting of Middle Schoolers, sophomores, and one junior, was led by captains Mary Flippen and Audrey Trundle. Despite accidents and illnesses which deprived the team of some of their best players, the girls came through with spirit and pep over flowing. The cheer of "V-O-Double L-E-Y-B-A-Dougle L-Volleyball!!" could be heard on court, in practice, and even during lunch. The coaches, Ms. McCallister and Mrs. Lindhjem, provided excellent guidance for the girls.

Dear Doctor Jock,

As a female, I know what girls talk about in their locker room. What I am dying to know is this: What is the subject matter in the boys' locker room? Please be specific as possible.

Sincerely,
Gary Ryan '81

Dear Gary,

To suggest that boys discuss anything but matters of the soul is disconcerting, to say the least. It's not unusual, for example, to catch Mike Monroe and Brad Schaubach studying for English quizzes after a rugged practice session and a warm, relaxing shower. Often such cerebral luminaries as Barry Bass and Ricky Zahn repair to the locker room to brush up on their Plato and Marcus Aurelius. Even the whirlpool and the taping table are surrounded by bookshelves and magazine racks. The bottom line, young lady, is that men do not have the time to dawdle that women seem to find.

Yours,
The Doctor

The Dance Team, led by Mrs. Rullman, worked diligently to prepare for the finale of their season, the Dance Show. Despite efforts by little Nate Rullman to disrupt practice, the team successfully presented a super show.

This year the dance program added a new activity, aerobic dance, led by Mrs. Carr and her able-bodied aides, Mrs. Hume and Mrs. Stackhouse. Hoping to tone up their bodies, they began exercising to music, and soon their interest grew to the point where they decided to take part in the Show. On February 22, 1981, the Dance Team joined the aerobic dancers to perform numbers from different time periods, combining ballet, jazz, tap, and modern dance routines to put on an entertaining show.

DEAR ABBY ADVISES ACADEMY STUDENTS

Dear Abby,

The school I attend stifles interaction between girls and boys. Such innocent matters as holding hands are frowned upon by the faculty. How can I enlighten these people to the ways of the modern world?

Need To Express Myself

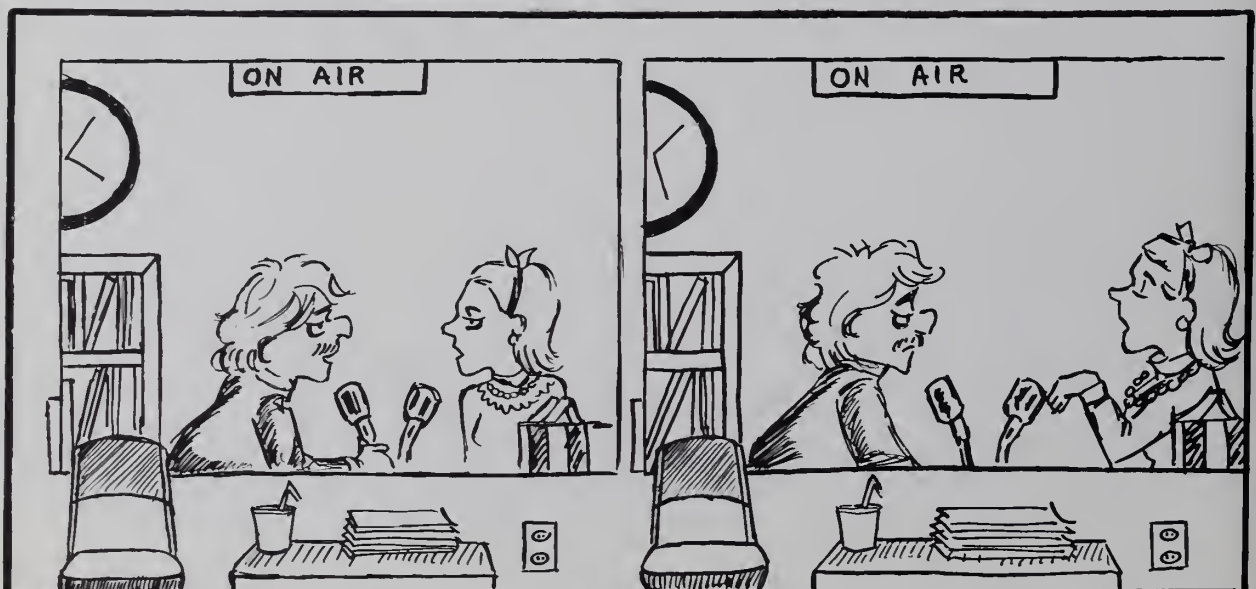

Dear Need,

While there is nothing wrong with expressing affection, there is a time and a place for such displays. The problem with holding hands is that it often stimulates the "juices" to flow and thus leads to more intense interactions.

Perhaps this is the time to give my definition of maturity. Check each point to see if you fit the bill.

1. Maturity is the ability to do a job whether you are supervised or not.
2. Maturity is the ability to finish a job once you've started it.
3. Maturity is the ability to carry money without spending it.
4. Maturity is the ability to bear an injustice without wanting to get even.

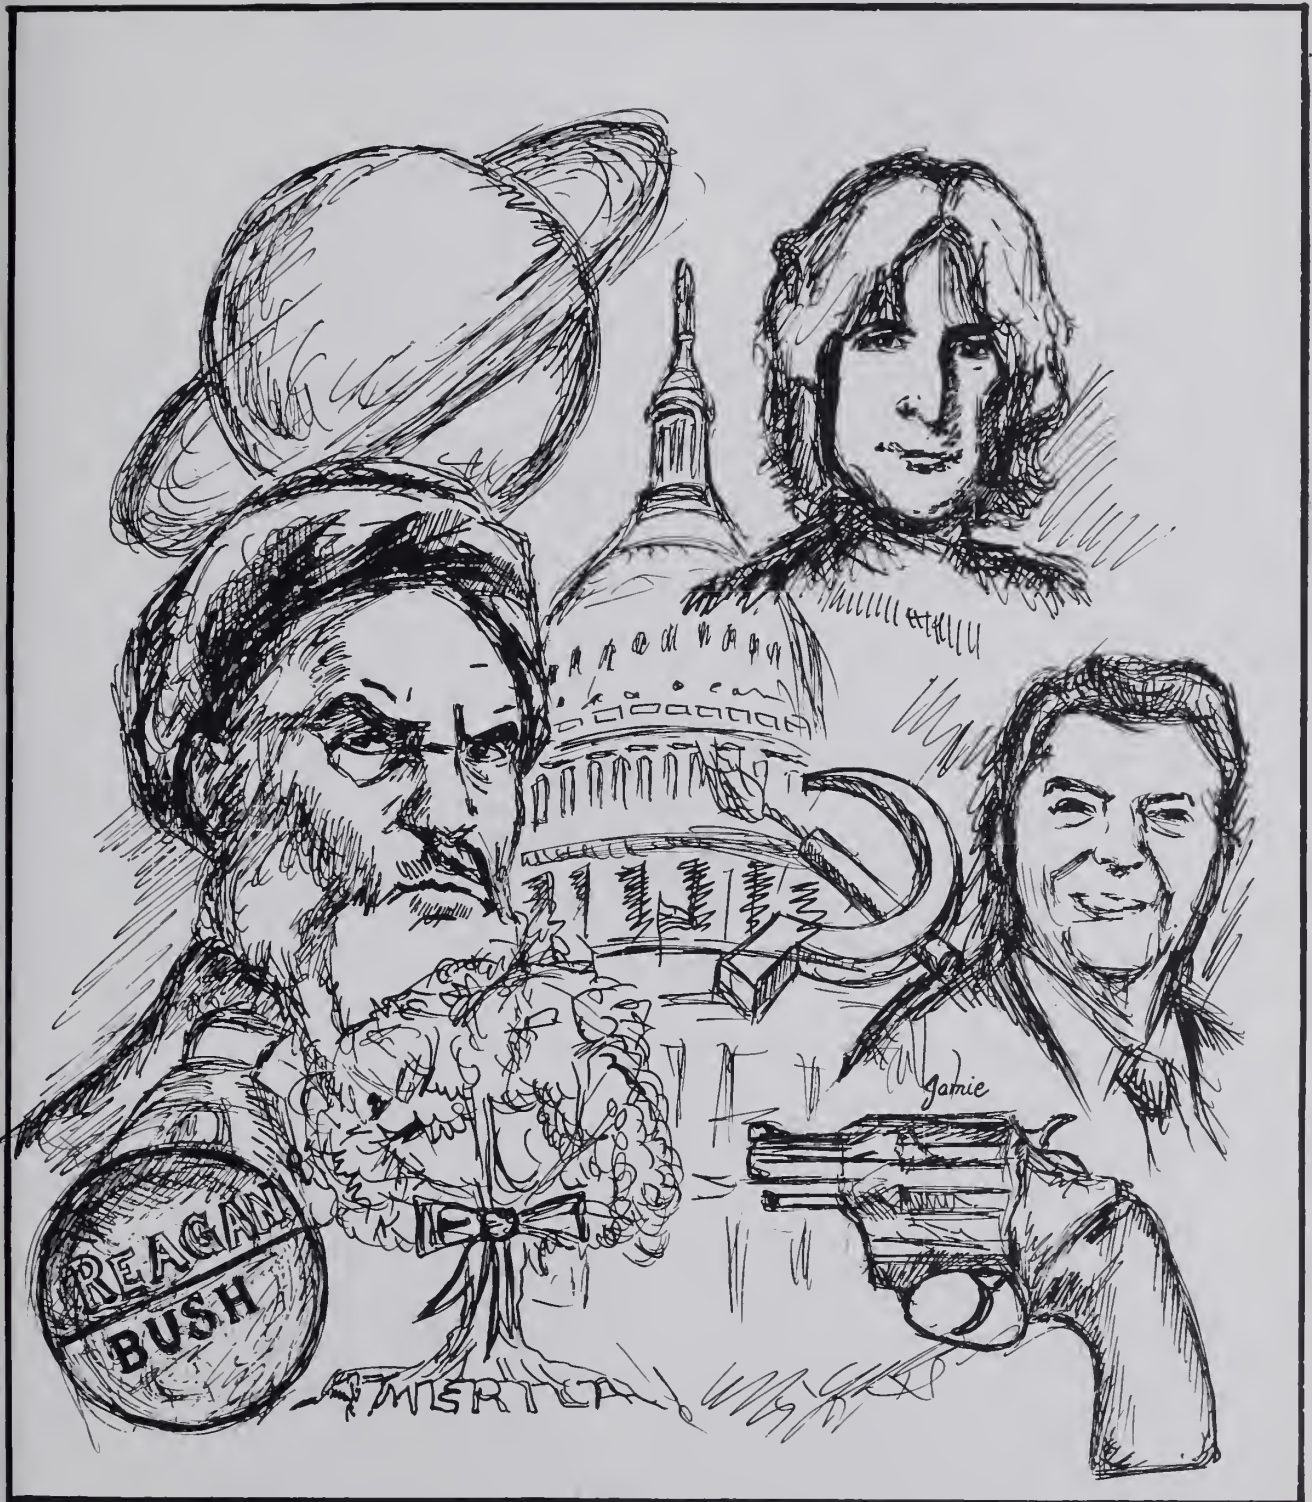

If you fit each listing, then you should be mature enough to realize that public displays of affection at school are inappropriate.

DEDICATION

The long-awaited new facilities for the Lower School were completed late in October thanks to the generosity of parents and alumni. At the October 25th ceremony, Henry Clay Hofheimer II, retiring trustee and contractor for the new buildings, presented the key to John B. Syer, Trustee in charge of buildings and grounds. Increased space in the Day-Summs Art Room, music and music practice rooms, the Scribner Science Room, the Conrad gymnasium, and the Cooper Library provide opportunities for greater student participation. The use of bright colors and textures makes areas that are as stimulating as they are utilitarian.

ALUMNI DAY

In spite of low temperatures and freezing rain, Homecoming 1980 was a smashing success. The day began with the dedication of the new Lower School buildings, a long-awaited event. Next came a luncheon sponsored by the Alumni Association; the day's events topped off with a cross country meet and a football game. While the athletic victories were sweet, the best part of the day was the happy smiles of the students, parents, faculty, and friends of the school as they came together to share experiences. The love generated by the crowd was more than enough to dispel the clouds sent by Mother Nature!

POWDER PUFF — POT LUCK POTPOURRI

On October 17, the Jr. girls issued the customary powder puff football challenge to the Sr. girls. The next four weeks saw an all-out war that culminated in a colossal struggle on Nov. 14. Led by Coach Marchionda and his crafty crew, the Jrs. drew first blood. With QB Stewart's help, leading rusher Wallace scored the first goal. Thirsty for revenge, Sr. coach Hudgins and his staff rallied their forces, and Baggett scampered to paydirt. The next half saw Wallace extend the Jr. lead, but the Srs. refused to give up as Ryan jetted 40 yards to change the score to 16-14. Jr. defense then stiffened and LB Taylor intercepted a pass to seal the Srs.' fate. That night, with the help of their "mom" Mrs. Hume, the Jrs. completed phase two of their exciting day with the Pot Luck Supper.

LOWER SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

The Lower School Winter Club program gave students in grades five through seven an opportunity to explore a variety of classes generally not a part of the school day. Some clubs offered this year were Woodworking, Imagination, Special Events, Self-Defense, and Stitchery. The Science Club had speakers on cloning, insects, and ecology, while Arts and Crafts taught Calligraphy and bread dough sculpture. Volunteers from the community came to run soccer and tennis clinics and to teach Dungeons & Dragons.

COLLEGE DAY

On Monday, February 16, 60 professors from colleges and universities all over Virginia as well as from Cornell, Vanderbilt, and Princeton taught college classes to students in grades 8-12 and several classes to Lower School students. Topics ranged from domestic and foreign policy to panning for gold in Virginia and from cloning to philosophy.

Explore! Create! Perform! Instrumental music from grades 1-12 strives to meet the diverse needs of NA students. While Tunstall students may elect a credit Jazz Ensemble class, small chamber groups comprised of students from all levels flourish. Musicians from all levels also join talents in the Concert Orchestra and Outdoor Band, whose performances enhance various school functions throughout the year. Instrumental students also participate in outside competitions such as the VOG Youth Symphonies.

The hardworking choral groups also enjoy a wide range of activities such as the VAIS Choral Festival and the VMEA Regionals, as well as school concerts. Highlights of this year were Dr. Genevieve McGiffert's vocal workshop and the introduction of male singers to the program.

NOVEMBER 9 - DECEMBER 5
GRANDY ART GALLERY
NORFOLK ACADEMY
NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

The Norfolk Academy Art Department has grown rapidly over the past year. A pottery class, taught twice weekly by Mrs. Sturm, has been a popular addition to the art curriculum. With the opening of the new Lower School facilities, Mrs. Adler now has her own room in which to teach future Da Vincis and Picassos. In the Upper School, Mrs. Bell, in her final year at the Academy, has created a gallery in the Grandy Lounge where students have the opportunity to reveal their artistic prowess. The displays have given students, faculty, and visitors a chance to see the talent that abounds at NA.

The Drama Department, directed by Mrs. Gail Hollinger, had a very productive year. It began in November when the Academy Players performed Agatha Christie's Murder on the Nile. In February, NA went Western with The Life and Death of Sneaky Fitch. The Spring Play consisted of three one-act plays, The Lottery, The Good Doctor, and excerpts from Shakespeare's comedies. The Drama program was enhanced by a new seventh period activity, Stagecraft. This group constructed sets for the plays and learned various staging, lighting, and audio techniques. In October, Fontaine Syer, an NA alumnae, sponsored a drama workshop, where she taught the art of makeup and acting. With such a full year, the Drama Department contributed greatly to Academy's expanding Fine Arts program.

CHARTER DAY

The first annual celebration of Norfolk Academy's Charter Day occurred on Nov. 13. Events of the day included a guest speaker, Mr. R.K.T. Larsen, a lunch for Upper Schoolers at the Tucker's house, and a birthday party for all students.

TREE DAY

Christmas officially came to NA with the decorating of the Bowers tree. Lower, Middle, and Upper Schoolers all came together to help ring in the Yuletide season and spread some peace and good will. School officials hope to make this an annual event. Who knows? Maybe even Santa will pay a visit next year!!

WESTERN DAY

The 1981 Winter Play, The Life and Death of Sneaky Fitch, was a new experience for the players as well as the audience. It was a musical western with superb performances by Rick Coyle as Sneaky Fitch, Kirk LeCompte as Rackum, and Ginger Baskett as the narrator. To promote the play, the Student Council sponsored a Western Dressup Day, and the Junior Class hosted a barbecue catered by Feather and Fin.

SCOUTING MAKES NICE BOYS

Ah, to be trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, and kind. Not to mention obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean, and reverent. If those virtues sound vaguely characteristic of the Boy Scouts of America, who are celebrating their 71st anniversary this week, it's because they are the 12 things Scouts are.

Frederick W. Hope knows that and a whole lot more about the Boy Scouts. He is a scoutmaster and the father of four scouts. He became involved with scouting when his oldest son Rick joined. His other sons soon followed suit. Now Hope is the proud father of two Eagle Scouts, a Life Scout, and a Star Scout. Chris, 18 and the next to the oldest, was presented the Eagle award from Rick; he then presented Keith the Life Scout award, and Keith gave David, 14, the Star Scout award. Fred Hope has dedicated much of his time to his sons and to scouting. "I enjoy every minute of it," he said.

STUDENTS TOUR HOSPITAL

Nine students who aspire to medical careers visited DePaul Hospital with Dr. Edward L. Lilly.

"Being a doctor means getting up and working when you don't feel like it, as I did at three o'clock this morning," Dr. Lilly told the students.

Students toured the operating room, the X-ray department, the emergency room, and the laboratory in the pathology department.

SPANISH CLUB

This year, the Spanish Club participated in various Hispanic cultural events. Under Ms. Cotton's sponsorship, the club looked into a possible exchange program. President John Gill and his officers, Caci Holland, Allison Clark, and Rachel Cloud, initiated activities ranging from spicy dinners at El Toro to a party for the fifth grade students. # GERMAN CLUB

This year, the German Club, under the leadership of president Claire Batts and her officers Bob Cabell, Rick Zahn, and Francis Lee, helped the Upper School by organizing a paper drive to help pay for the German exchange students' trip to Washington. They also had a winter concession for the first time, which also contributed to the project. The club held a Christmas party at the home of the Morris twins, where everyone enjoyed a variety of German dishes.

FRENCH CLUB

Under the leadership of president Lance Goodman and officers Kim Eckert, Anne Diamonstein, and Susan Dickinson, Le Cercle Francais participated in a variety of activities. From entertaining speakers to attending Moliere's one-act plays at the Wells Theater, the club conducted each meeting entirely in French. Highlights from this year included eating gourmet food at progressive dinners and seeing French films at the Naro. With plans to initiate a French exchange program, the club had a spring concession to help fund this project. The Club also made plans to become involved with the newly established Cousteau Society.

FINE ARTS COUNCIL

Sponsored by Mrs. Virginia Bell, the newly formed Fine Arts Council consists of representatives of the various arts at Norfolk Academy. Under president Ginger Baskett and officers Kim Eckert and John Gill, the council worked to promote the arts both at school and in the community. In addition to establishing an Arts bulletin board in the Grandy Building, the club painted scenery for a production of the Norfolk Savoyards. Another addition to NA culture was the Stagecrafts Club. Designed to help Mrs. Hollinger with all facets of a play production, the new club proved very successful in the past year.

The International Relations Club, led by Bobby Schwartz, worked on several exciting projects this year, including the establishment of a school in Zaire in conjunction with the Peace Corps Partnership Program. IRC also sponsored an international lunch followed by a cake party to commemorate UN Week. The highlight of the year came in February when NA's Libyan delegation participated in the Model UN at Georgetown University. The NA Debate Team won the Tidewater Independent Conference championship after a very successful season. 1980-81 saw the introduction of a new league, formed by Mr. Oberdorfer. Led by varsity debaters Robin Doumar and Barry Bass, the team outwitted their opponents on the topic of "Consumer Product Safety."

Among the Theta Club's activities this year was a first for the school, a school-sponsored camping trip to George Washington National Forest. With expert leadership by Dave Thomas and his comic relief Bruce Marchionda, nineteen students and Jayne Cotton braved the wilds of the forest on the first weekend of bear hunting season. Despite below-freezing weather and a serious lack of water, the campers and chaperones had a great time.

CLASSIFIEDS

HELP WANTED

No experience needed. Excellent opportunity to improve math skills by counting type. Positions available immediately. Flexible hours. Call Mrs. Hume for an interview.

Sponsor for the Class of '83. Hard work, long hours, no fringe benefits except the satisfaction of seeing Prom dreams come true. See Mrs. Hume or Mr. Hudgins for more details.

PROPOSALS

Notice to the Class of 1982: Sealed bids in duplicate for the general renovation of the Senior Room, located in the back hallway of the Tunstall Building at Norfolk Academy, will be received in the office of the class sponsor until 2 P.M. on Tuesday, June 8.

LOST

Spring Sports Pictures. If found, contact Warwick Spencer. If unable to reach him, find Anne Diamonstein. Reward offered (the gratitude of the yearbook staff).

Mrs. Hume's sanity. Lost in the vicinity of Room 514 sometime during the first week of March. If found, please return immediately as she needs it back.

Four ninth grade girls in the Tunstall Building. Last seen wearing cheerleading uniforms in the vicinity of the Junior boys' lockers. If found, please return them to their own building.

NEED TO BUY

A complete set of senior textbooks. Please contact Lawren Herring.

A sign that will indicate to female students the difference between "girls" and "women." Such sign to be placed on bathroom door next to the Coke room. Contact Mrs. Rhodes for further information.

SPECIAL NOTE

The Apathy Club will no longer be a functioning organization due to a lack of interest on the part of the members.

PERSONALS

To Mrs. Hume,

Thanks for your guidance and encouragement that have helped make this yearbook such a success. We could never have done it without you.

With love,
Jodi; Lance, and Susan

To Jodi,

We leave you our gratitude for being such a responsible and supportive editor, as well as an appreciation for the long hours you put into creating such a great yearbook.

Love,
Susan and Lance

To Lance and Susan,

Thanks for being my right and left hands during the past eight months. Without your generous help, I would have never been able to survive.

Love,
Jodi

Your days are short here.
This is the last of your springs.
And now, in the serenity and quiet of this lovely place, touch the depths of truth. Feel the hem.
You will go away with old good friends.
Don't forget, when you leave, why you came.

A black and white photograph of a long, empty hallway. The floor is made of large, light-colored tiles. On the right side, there are several tall, narrow windows or doorways that let in bright light, creating strong shadows on the floor. At the end of the hallway, there is a large, bright opening, possibly a doorway or a window looking out onto a bright outdoor area. The overall atmosphere is quiet and contemplative.

The staff of the Horizons gratefully acknowledges Mrs. Miriam Walker, who typed the directory; Mr. Frank Dixon, representing School Pictures Inc., who took faculty, senior, underclass, and organization pictures; Mrs. Sally Carr and the Royster Photography Club, who contributed their pictures and their time; Mr. John Perry, representing Hunter Publishing Company, who advised and aided in this year's book; Mrs. Betty Barco, who bailed us out of trouble at the last minute; Mr. MacConochie, who contributed the dedicatory preface; David J. Korman and Debbie Patish, who helped with the photography and lent their technical assistance; Dr. Thomas W. Ranson, who battled rush-hour traffic so we could meet our first deadline; the Compass, Beacon, and Virginian-Pilot/Ledger Star for their articles on Norfolk Academy students; the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company for their advertising logo.

A special thanks goes to Larry Patish and the photography staff, who spent many long hours in the darkroom. We also express our thanks to all who advertised in the Horizons.
